

• HOW MUCH DO CERTAIN AMERICANS APPROVE? •

Gallup breaks down the single percentage by all sorts of demographics, allowing you to really see which Americans feel the president is doing a good job or not—in other words, if they feel their wishes and positions are being represented by the person in this most powerful position.

Using the drop-down menu in the interactive tool on Gallup's Presidential Job Approval Center webpage, select the current president and click on different groups of people to see their current approval rating of the President.

Currently, the President has the highest approval rating of ____ % among...

Currently, the President has the lowest approval rating of ____ % among...

Currently, the category (besides "politics") that has the widest range of approval ratings is...

The group whose approval rating is the most surprising to me is...

The one demographic category I wish was included is...

In general right now, it seems that people who are _____,
_____, and _____ tend to approve of the President.

In general right now, it seems that people who are _____,
_____, and _____ tend to disapprove of the President.

• • • • • • • • • • • • • • • •

Based on the overall approval rating, it could be considered that the president gets a _____ grade in representing the American people because...

Based on all the approval ratings broken down by demographic groups, it could be considered that the president gets a _____ grade in representing the American people because...

The more a president maintains an overall higher approval rating, the more they would likely...

The more a president maintains an overall lower approval rating, the more they would likely...